

DATA COLLECTION POLICY

Protecting Your Privacy

Trident Maritime Systems (“Trident”) and our legal entities are committed to protecting your personal data. We will never ask you to provide your personal identification information such as your name, address, date of birth, marital status, ethnicity, financial records, credit card information, etc. on our website or any of our social media platforms. Any information that you provide to Trident will only be used by Trident. We do not collect or store your personal information, nor do we share it with third parties outside of the Trident organization.

What are Internet Cookies?

Internet cookies (also called, web cookies or HTTP cookies) are text files placed on your computer to collect standard internet log information and visitor behavior information.

A website might use cookies to keep a record of your most recent visit or to record your login information. Many people find this useful so that they can store passwords on frequently used sites, or simply so they know what they have visited or downloaded in the past.

Most web browsers such as, Firefox, Chrome, Edge, Safari, and Internet Explorer allow you to manage your cookies in order to protect your privacy online. For more information about how to manage cookies, visit www.allaboutcookies.org.

How does Trident use cookies?

Trident uses cookies to help improve your experience on our website and understand how you use the site.

What data do we collect?

The Trident Maritime Systems website collects non-personal data such as:

- Geographic location (e.g. Sweden, Norway, United Kingdom, United States, Poland, Italy)
- How the visitor located the Trident website (e.g. Google search, direct/entered website URL, referral, social media, other sites)
- Number of page views
- Pages read per session
- Companies that visit the website

Remember, we DO NOT collect your personal data.

Policies are subject to being updated at any time.

If you have any inquiries regarding data collection by Trident Maritime Systems, you are welcome to contact us at info@tridentllc.com or by telephone: 703-236-1599.